The vow

Who will break the binds
Who will remain confined
Why our hands closed we keep
When the key is at our feet

Who at last unravels all
And as a result does not fall
Why alongside us you moor
When the world is an open door

Nothing more can me astound
On these waves that abound
In my head alone is ringing
Your voice reasoning

Who the great nets can unravel
Who of us is in peril
Why are these buoys around
If the anchor is in the ground

Who can the tips unravel
And therefore to the end can travel
Why do they say we are hysterical
When we love each other, that's all

Nothing more can me astound
On these waves that abound
In my head alone is ringing
Your voice reasoning

*I would like things to be so easy
Like the blinking of an eye
The wish for a life tranquil
In the middle of an isle*

Nothing more can me astound
On these waves that abound
In my head alone is ringing
Your voice reasoning

Who will break the binds
Who will remain confined
Why are these smiles fixated
On our eyes disoriented

Oh oh oh oh
